Wigington & Alexander, the leading dry goods merchants of Piedmont, have sent us one of their latest advertising announcements. It is a most creditable advertisement and was gotten out by their Wigington, who is a practical printer and a great believer in advertising. Mrs. Sophia Bruce, wife of P. F. S. Bruce, died at her home in Elberton, Ga., last Thursday, after a painful illness of several months, aged 72 years. Mrs. Bruce was a daughter of the late Rev. Joseph H. Hinton, a prominent Presbyterian minister of this County before the war, and is a sister of Mrs. A. B. Bowden, of this County. She was born and reared in this County, and has many old friends here who will regret to hear of her death. The Elberton Star, in speaking of her death, says: "For forty-four years she has been a resident of Elberton and is known far and near for her deeds of kindness and her calm, steadfast Christian walk. Into her life many visiting tides have come. Affliction has been laid heavily upon her. Of the six children born to her, none are now living. Still nothing could disturb the firm, trusting trust in her heavenly Father's goodness."

The plant of the Anderson Mattress and Spring Bed Company, on East Broad Street, was blown down, last Thursday morning about 8:30 o'clock. The fire started in the room where the shucks are shredded, and, owing to the inflammable nature of the material, it is supposed that a spark from one of the machines started the blaze. The firemen responded promptly to the alarm, but when they reached the scene there was very little water in the hydrants and no pressure, and they could do nothing to stay the flames from the adjoining buildings. The buildings were wooden structures and burned rapidly. The loss is about $5,000, with $2,900 insurance. The plant will be rebuilt at once, and the building will be of brick. This is the third time the factory has been destroyed by fire, and it was once partially destroyed, making four times the Company has suffered by fire.

The Tokeena correspondent of the Oconee News says: "P. C. Moore still makes a trip to Anderson once every week. We believe if Patrick was as well known in that city as he is at home, she would come home with him soon."

In its issue last week the Keowee Courier prints the following: "Mr. M. Skinner, of Chicago, chief engineer of the Tennessee, Georgia and South Carolina Railroad Company, was in the surveying corps that began work at Chattanooga, Tenn., a few weeks ago. Frink, of Chicago, and his associates. They claim that active work of construction will begin at an early day. Mr. I. H. Harrison expects to join the surveying corps next week on the work from Walhalla to Anderson."

A special to the News and Courier from Seneca, under date of March 24th, says: "The news has just been received here that the boom situated on the Seneca River at Calhoun, Oconee County, was washed away by high water Monday evening. It was owned by the Benedict Love Company. It is said there were over 40,000 logs that escaped and there will be a loss to the company amounting to about thirty-five thousand dollars. Many bridges on the stream were destroyed, which will cost the counties a few thousands of dollars to replace them. When the boom broke about thirty men on the logs were compelled to jump and swim for their lives. There were no lives lost but several narrow escapes."

Maj. E. E. Rankin of the Greenville News is in the city. The major is much interested in the affairs of the State and never fails to note any encouraging feature in manufacturing. He has with him now several specimens of goods made by the Belton mills that are as pretty as one would want to see. They are percales of different weaves and designs, in white and red, white and blue and white and black, making elegant goods for shirting or for shirtwaists or for anything else that percales are used for. The cotton in these goods was raised in the State, the cloth was woven at the Belton mill, was bleached at the Clearwater bleachery in Aiken County and was printed at the Belton mills. It does a South Carolinian's heart good to see such excellent products of home mills.—Newberry Observer, 27th ult.

Beautiful Home Wedding.

On last Wednesday evening, March 25, 1903, a large number of friends and relatives assembled at the home of R. A. Brazeeale, in Broadway Township, to witness the marriage of his daughter, Miss Nina, to J. H. Richardson, of Liberty, S. C.

The wedding march was beautifully rendered by Mrs. O. L. Martin. The bride was a picture of feminine beauty in her snowy bridal robe. She was attended by two maids of honor, Misses E. E. Eason, of Ninety-Six, and Birdie Dugworth, each being handsomely gowned in white organdie. The ceremony was impressively performed by Rev. O. L. Martin.

The parlor, hall and dining room were beautifully decorated, the color schemes in the parlor being white and green, the dining room pink and white. The wedding supper was a real feast, when hospitality and beauty bade the guests enjoy the luxuries of life.

Miss Brazeeale was a lovely, fascinating girl, whose characteristics were only those of a true woman. She will be greatly missed by her circle at Lebanon.

Mr. Richardson is a worthy young man, who, after spending several years at Clemson College, has been in charge of his farm at Liberty. They have a host of friends and relatives, whose good wishes were largely shown by the numerous and useful presents given, and whose desire it is that happiness, health and prosperity may attend them through life.

On Thursday Mr. M. B. Richardson, father of the groom, gave the wedding party an elegant luncheon, immediately after which Mr. and Mrs. Richardson left for their home at Liberty.

Mrs. Ellen Harrison, of 300 Park Ave., Kansas City, Mo., writes as follows: "Our two children had a severe attack of whooping cough, one of them in the paroxysm of coughing would often faint and bleed at the nose. We tried everything we heard of without getting relief. We then called in our family doctor, who prescribed Foley's Honey and Tar. With the very first dose they began to improve and we feel that it has saved their lives. Refuse substitutes.—Evans' Pharmacy.
